Low's team won from Cummings' team with a score of 36 to 35. Fancy sliding for bases was a feature of the game.

The baby was born on the Pala plantation, her parents having moved to Honolulu only about six months ago. The fact that the child lacked but half of one percent, of being a "perfect baby" and that her only defect consisted in a little too much hair on her arms and legs, due to the fact that she had played out of door almost from the time of her birth, attracted much attention in Honolulu.

RIGHT OF WAY DISPUTE HOLDS UP KUIAHA HOMESTEAD ROAD

Because certain of the homesteaders in the Kuiaha district demand $200 per acre as compensation for the right of way through their pineapple fields for the proposed road extension east of the East Kuiaha gulch, the loan fund commission, at its meeting last Friday night, deferred action on the whole matter. One of the homesteaders, it was stated, is willing to accept $75 per acre as the amount of damage.

Raymond Ranch Gets New Selling Agents

The Raymond Ranch has broken with the Hawaii Meat Company, and in the future will market its product in Honolulu through the markets of C. Q. Yee Hop, C. Q. Yet, and the territorial marketing division. Dr. Raymond, during his recent trip to Honolulu made these new arrangements for handling the 1500 beef carcasses which his ranch produces each year. The decision of the Territorial marketing division to open a retail meat market will probably mean that a considerable portion of the Raymond Ranch be handled through this source.

Dr. Raymond was unable to make satisfactory arrangements with the Hawaii Meat Company, which he claims had been discriminating against him and compelling him to accept a lower price than paid to other ranchers. The Raymond Ranch has recently established new refrigeration plant at a cost of about $30,000, near Makema, where all slaughtered beef will be held for shipment by the ranch's refrigerating power boat. Dr. Raymond claims that by slaughtering on the premises his product is much better than that from cattle which have been carried on the hoof to Honolulu and there slaughtered.

Fine Horses Arrive For Maui Horsemen

Six runners and a polo pony arrived from San Francisco by the steamer Lurline yesterday, in charge of the veteran horseman John O'Rourke. Three of the bangtails were for Angus McPhee, the Maui racing magnate, and the other three were consigned to Harry Baldwin.

The polo pony was the fast saller Boy, owned by Harold Castle, and which will be entered and ridden by him in the June races at Kapiolani park.

McPhee's string consists of the following:

Miss Olicious, bay mare, aged, by Meddler—Ballyhoe.
Ypres, black mare, four years, by Salvation—Valencuse.
Heidelberg, sorrel gelding, four years.

Baldwin's horses are as follows: Whistling Jennie, bay mare, four years, by Joe Carey—Music Girl.
Bob Love, bay gelding, four years, by Patrick Henry.

A five-year-old bay gelding.

The six runners will go up to Maui by the Lurline tomorrow and will be trained at Kahului for the coming races, arriving here from Maui about ten days before the meeting. Jockey Carroll has been engaged to ride for Angus McPhee.

O'Rourke will make a trip to Maui and probably to Hilo. He expects to remain here until after the races and then return to San Francisco.—Advertiser.

Pine Growers May Get Better Terms

nery, and all the fruit from those acres must go to that cannery, except that five per cent. may be retained for local consumption or for shipment to the mainland.

(Note—A grower may contract with both canneries if he wishes, but must state what land he plants for each, and must deliver the fruit from that land to the cannery to which it is promised.)

2. Provide that the company will endeavor to make deliveries at times satisfactory to the company; that the growers will care for the containers properly, and return broken ones to the cannery for repairs.

3. Provide the weight limit for first class to be three pounds and up, and the second class to be 1½ to 3 pounds; first and second class fruit to be delivered separately; and the price for second class to be half that paid for first class.

(Note—This arrangement is not altogether satisfactory to either the canneries or the growers, and it is probable that a commission consisting of the officers of the canneries and representatives of the growers will work out a more satisfactory one during the coming year.

4. Provide that the company is to give receipts for the weights, just as heretofore, and that the grower may inspect and test the scales.

5. Contain the same fire and arbitration clauses as the old contracts.

6. Provide that the company cannot pay another grower a higher price than is paid to the one under contract.

7. Provide that advances are a lien on the crop, and the cannery may care for the crop, if the grower neglects it, in cases where it has made advances to the grower.

Ben Lyons Gets Long Delayed Settlement

At a meeting of the territorial land board on Tuesday a final settlement was decided upon with T. B. Lyons, of Wailuku to compensate him for property taken seven years ago for enlargement of the Royal school grounds, in Honolulu, and for which no recompense has ever been made. Lyons is to receive in exchange about 10 acres of government land in Wailue, now under lease to the Wailuku Sugar Company. It is understood that he will probably exchange this land, which is good cane land, for other property in Wailuku.
